President's Message

As they say in horse racing, "we are coming down the home stretch, headed for the finish line." Let's make the president happy with a big finish by having a huge turnout for the November (turkey raffle night) and December (Holiday Party on Saturday 12/10/16 at the church). I know we can draw more than 76 members (current high so far) at both of these meetings. I promise the food will again be great. Back by popular demand we will be serving hot food prepared by Rachel's restaurant. Heroes, salad and sandwiches will be catered by John Moore's deli who brought the excellent fare at last month's meeting. The door fee will remain at $15 dollars to hopefully cover our costs.

For those who say they need entertainment, I am currently in negotiations with some Pilgrims and Indians who will be doing our turkey raffle. As you all know a club's success depends upon the efforts of its members. Some do lots, some do little, and some do nothing. I bring this up only because we are in need of a volunteer to sell raffle tickets at our monthly meetings. Woody Anderson has had this job for many years and is now facing a shoulder replacement surgery in the near future. I thank Woody for all his help and advice over the years.

Here is a good opportunity for a new member to get involved with very little time and effort. If you are interested, see any board member or the president.

A big thank you to Jeanie and Richie O for making our Oktoberfest a great night despite the horrible weather. The sauerbraten that Jeanie made was excellent and so was the gravy. The rat and mouse unions have filed a complaint as there wasn't a crumb to be found at the end of the night. I'm not quite sure why it stopped but the 50/50 jug will be at the front sign in table. Bring money, win a turkey and support your club, now that's a winning combination.

Trivia question: Where did the first settlers on Long Island land?

Fishing Report

November - Time to Fish Fast

A well known Captain used to say to his crew "fish fast, it's getting late early," a play on the famous Yogi Berra quote. As we enter November, it would seem to apply to the fishing scene right now. As always, October's weather played a huge role in the fishing opportunities available as some pretty stiff winds kept offshore effort to a minimum and have the fish hightailing it out of town. That said, the best overall fishing of the year may be right now (offshore aside).

Jimmy Krug, Persuader II with 2 of his impressive "deck dump"

I called Captain Jim Krug from the Persuader II out at Montauk, after he sent me an impressive "deck dump" picture of a recent bottom fishing trip. Captain Jim reported "unbelievable" bottom fishing at Montauk with a seabass and cod mix around Block Island. Even closer to port, he has been hammering blackfish for his crews, fishing some new bottom. On the striped bass front, it seems the larger fish have left Montauk and headed south/west (as the reports below will testify). He reports that jigging for smaller fish is still viable a sure sign that their run is winding down.

Byron King of the Kingfisher

Bryon King from the Kingfisher wrapped up a successful summer season out of Shinnecock and returned to Jones Inlet. He reports from last week, "The fall run started for the Kingfisher today. Headed west out of Jones this morning, dropped in at 40' and started to troll to shallower water. Had fish (striped bass) to 42" on the troll and then on live bunker.

Also saw whales feeding on bunker in 20' of water." Thanks for the report Bryon! With the lackluster offshore season and the windy weather, our Editor, Captain John Jutt, dusted off his wire line outfits. sharpened the hooks on his bunker spoons, and turned his focus on the run of large bass migrating along our local beaches. John made several trips on his Red Dawn Rising, and had some very impressive results. On a trip earlier this month, he limited out with bass up to 42lbs, with his dad Ray Jutt, brothers Tommy and Jimmy, Nick Titus and junior mate Dylan DeRosa onboard.

More recently John searched west, east, and west again before finally locating some fish. The move paid off as a large cow was fought and landed by brother Mike Jutt. As landed that fish weighed over 46 pounds on a hand scale. Back at the dock she weighed in at 43.8 lbs. Three other nice fish joined her for the ride home.

Congratulations to Captain John and crew for setting the bar high. Hard work and effort always pay off.

Captain John, and brother Mike Jutt with their 43.8 lb. Striped Bass

Besides trolling and live lining along the beach, jigging is coming alive and the inlet still has bass clam chumming and drifting eels at night. The bass have been moving through, don't wait too long to get in on the action.

On the local bottom fishing scene seabass are once again open in all waters. The bag limit has now increased to 10 fish per angler. Seabass fishing at this time of year is pretty close to a sure thing. You just need to find the depth range where the quality fish are living. Fish are available from 70' or so out to at least 20 fathoms. Now is the time to load up.

Blackfishing has been sporadic locally, lots of small fish but a poor keeper ratio. Much better fishing is occurring to the west (Rockaway Reef) and off of NJ. Watch the regulations and be aware that while in NJ waters you must abide by their size and bag possession limits. Earlier in October, on an afternoon trip I found decent fishing on an inshore wreck west of Jones and was able to limit easily. That same day on the McAllister and Atlantic Beach Reef I couldn't by a bite. On another quick trip, with a dreaded roll in the ocean, only shorts were available locally. Local fishing will improve as the waters cool. My next trip I will focus on areas near to Jones Inlet and would expect good results. Last year a tremendous run of large blackfish occurred very late at the Hempstead Reef so you just never know. It will be interesting to see if some cod mix in with the offshore seabass. Local cod fishing are once again in decline, let's hope the trend can reverse.

Offshore reports are few and far between. Some threshers were taken but that seems to have quieted down. Weather has hampered the ability to get offshore. With some stable weather tuna may be available on the chunk but we need some intrepid anglers to take a ride and test the waters.

News Flash – Annual FTC Blackfish Trip Orient Point

My phone and emailed started buzzing as an excited Bob Pandy gave me the report from the Annual FTC Blackfish Trip on the Prime Time III out of Orient Point. Twenty-five Club members enjoyed great weather and conditions running 1.5 hours from Orient Point. Fishing was a little slow, but quality blackfish and seabass were caught. Bob Pandy battled a good one early in the trip which turned out to be the pool winner weighing a very respectable 10.04 lbs! The fish took a half green crab and hit like a freight train. Congrats Bob!

There's nothing like first hand reports, please consider sharing your fishing tales and pictures with our membership by sending them in. Thanks in advance!
